Welcome to CancerLink Central

...where no one faces cancer alone

癌協
CANCERLINK

You've just been diagnosed with cancer.
 You may feel confused, anxious and alone.
 Come to CancerLink, where our professional staff are ready to help, and meet others who have travelled the same path and understand what you're going through.
 With the right information and support, you will feel more in control and better able to cope. CancerLink is like a sanctuary, where you can put your worries aside, relax, and be empowered in your healing process.
 Call us or drop in for a cup of tea, have a chat and know that you are not alone.

Advice and assistance from specialists and counsellors
 Holistic therapies: yoga, meditation, art therapies
 A tailor-made programme, just for you
A safe place to chat and to share

“Talking to and seeing someone who has survived cancer means more than anything to me. It tells me that I will be one of them.”
 – May, breast cancer patient.

Cancer care professionals (oncology nurses and registered social workers), counsellors, art therapists, volunteers...
 We're here to answer your questions, hold your hand, or just listen.

“The most difficult aspect of having cancer is the anxiety and worries that come with a diagnosis. At CancerLink, you learn to gather yourself together and overcome them.”
 – Venus, Project Manager.

To provide free services to those touched by cancer, we need your support.
